NINE FRENCHMEN SEIZE FORT AND GARRISON

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, July 19.—A striking episode in the great Somme offensive was the taking of the field fort at Biaches and a garrison of 113 men by nine French soldiers. The fort had resisted stubbornly throughout the fighting. Luck revealed one vulnerable spot to a French officer. Selecting eight men he led them to the spot on hands and knees. The Germans, taken unawares, had no time to get their weapons and surrendered without a fight.

First Story of Tonopah As Found By Jim Butler

The Bonanza stands on record as in favor of the suggestion of holding a Jim Butler day celebration on the twenty-eighth day of August, the anniversary of the first mineral location filed in the Tonopah district, of which Jim Butler is the proud progenitor and at that time about the sole occupant of the territory now included in the Tonopah mining district. To enlighten the readers of the Bonanza about the events that led up to the discovery of this camp, the following story, taken from Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Tonopah Bonanza, printed June 15, 1901, is offered with the explanation that the reference to Tonopah mountain means what is known today as Mount Oddie. The mountain also is described as "the porphyry mountain." Here is the story as it was written and printed over fifteen years ago by W. W. Booth, editor and manager of the Bonanza:

J. L. Butler, the discoverer of the Tonopah mining district, which is now attracting universal attention in mining circles, is an old resident of Nye and Eureka counties and has been more or less identified with prospecting since 1870. Like all others who followed the hills in search of nature's hidden wealth, his pathway has not been strewn with roses; neither did Dame Fortune smile on him benignly and drop riches into his lap, except in his latest and greatest discovery. Notwithstanding the hardships and disappointments through which he has passed, he had a presentiment that some time he would become the owner of valuable mining property. For the last ten or fifteen years he labored under the impression that the country in the vicinity of Tonopah mountain was worthy of investigation and though many excursions were planned with this object in view something invariably transpired to turn him from his purpose, until May, just one year ago, he determined to make the trip, and on the 19th of that month passed over the ground now made famous by his fortunate discovery.

Coming to Tonopah

Camping at what is known as the Warren Averel spring on the 19th, about three miles from the present town of Tonopah, he directed his course toward the porphyry mountain also christened Tonopah and, finding float promiscuously scattered over the flat, immediately commenced pros-

STEVEDORES MAY BREAK THEIR PACT

ACTION OF LONGSHOREMEN IN STRIKING NOT APPROVED BY THE RIGGERS

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—There is said to be a strong probability that the local union of riggers and stevedores would break away from the district organization of the Pacific coast longshoremen, which called a strike June 1. By a secret ballot Saturday the riggers and stevedores voted to return to work at the old wages. Now that the other local unions have rejected the proposition a meeting has been called for tonight to determine whether to return to work or continue the strike.

GERALDINE'S BODY ON THE WAY HOME

PARENTS START FOR TONOPAH, EXPECTING TO ARRIVE LATE THIS AFTERNOON

The report in the Bonanza last evening announcing the tragic death of little Geraldine Fitzgerald sent a thrill of sympathy through the camp, as the child was generally known and universally esteemed. Additional pathos was imparted to the death by the fact that the trip to the cool regions of the Sierras was undertaken largely in behalf of the child, whose health, following the long suffering from the shock of the winter accident, needed the stimulus of a bracing environment. The child was the favorite of the father, who indulged in many happy thoughts of spending the summer with his darling on the cool waters of Silver Lake. To complete the pleasure of the vacation a motor boat was built and the entire family, accompanied by Miss Mary McQuillan, departed for the mountains of Mono county on the first of July.

The child prospered and her form was rounding into perfect health when death came to rob the home of its choicest flower. That the end came while Geraldine was bathing was all the information obtainable. The body was recovered late in the afternoon and a telegram received here last night stated the family would return with the body, leaving Silver Lake at 9 o'clock last night. This afternoon another wire came from James J. McQuillan, dated at Hawthorne, stating that the party was leaving there at 11:30 and should arrive in Tonopah about 4:30 this afternoon.

In memory of the dead child the flag on the Tonopah high school was draped at half staff. The funeral arrangements will not be known until this evening. As soon as the sad news was received in Tonopah, Charles Ducheneau, auditor of the Tonopah Belmont, took steps to send out a relief car, which was held under a second dispatch received to the effect that the body was recovered and the party was leaving Silver Lake at 9 o'clock last night. Then, in charge of J. J. McQuillan, postmaster, whose daughter was a guest of the Fitzgeralds,
